1

Define your problem statement

What problem are you trying to solve? Frame your problem as a How Might We statement. This will be the focus of your brainstorm.

Industry-specific intelligent fire management system

Only reliable, quick, and cost-free alerts that include the precise location of the fire can make fire management systems efficient. The quantity of fire damage and the length of time it takes to respond to different fire alarm systems are directly correlated. The damage also reduces as the period between interventions shortens. The time between fire detection and extinguishment, also known as the reaction or response time of a fire management system, is hence its most crucial component.

Key rules of brainstorming

To run an smooth and productive session

- Stay in topic.
- Defer judgment.
- Go for volume.
- Encourage wild ideas.
- Listen to others.
- If possible, be visual.

2

Brainstorm

Write down any ideas that come to mind that address your problem statement.

3

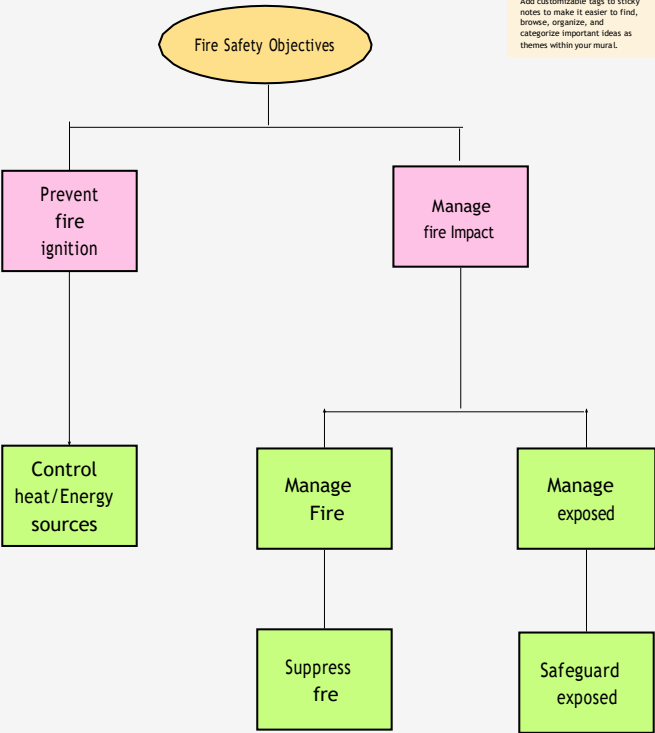

Group ideas

Take turns sharing your ideas while clustering similar or related notes as you go. Once all sticky notes have been grouped, give each cluster a sentence-like label. If a cluster is bigger than six sticky notes, try and see if you can break it up into smaller sub-groups.

20 minutes

TIP

Add customizable tags to sticky notes to make it easier to find, browse, organize, and categorize important ideas as themes within your mural.

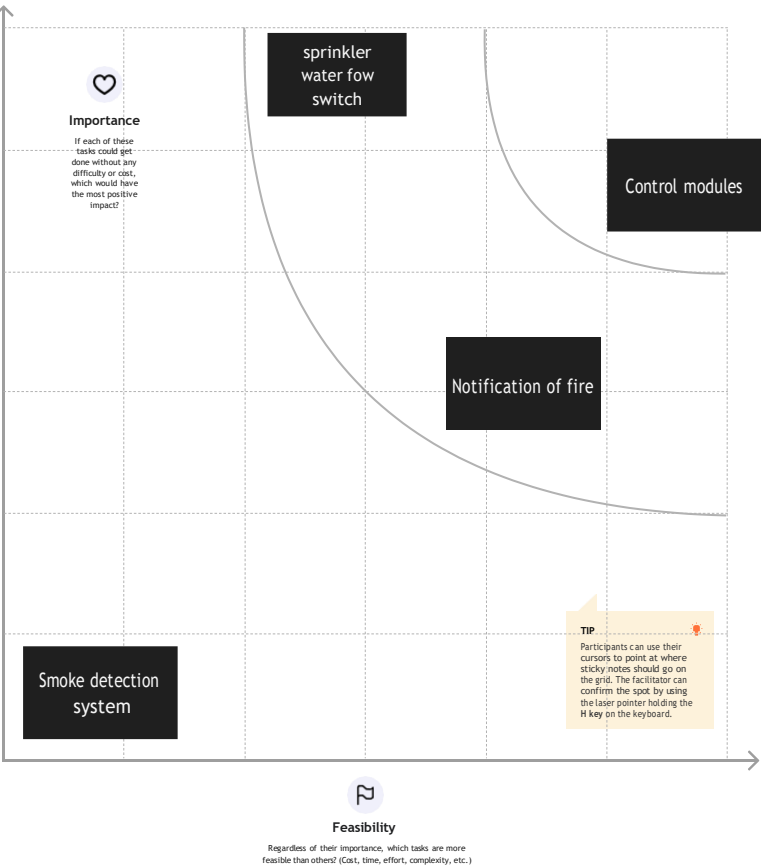

4

Prioritize

Your team should all be on the same page about what's important moving forward. Place your ideas on this grid to determine which ideas are important and which are feasible.
